Artist: Iris
Artwork: A passion for life
Iris, (genevieve lahens esper), an architect by trade has been painting for the last 16 years. Without pretension or gaudiness, her paintings impact first by the simplicity of their language. Silent understanding. Measured lines. Jarring rhythms. Her art works unfold like a customary dance that brings out beauty and feeling. Her paintings and sculpture (wood and recycled iron), have no reference to time. You can't tell where she is from – Africa, Asia or Europe. Emancipated or eluding a permanent residence, her art work would fit in a space yet to be classified where the traditional, the ancient and the spiritual absorb the fragrance of modernity. You could describe them as-“something that the new millennium is expecting, totally universal with a background of the spiritual.” “Much sensitivity, spontaneity and rectitude. One is amazed with the equilibrium obtained. From this perfect dosage of powers a poetry warm and delightful.”

Artist: Mohamed Tahiry

Artwork: Berber Atlas

Born and grown up in Tangier, his interest for art started in his early years in school. His first passion was drawing. He started portraying the teachers during class, which some of them liked and others didn't. He went often to the library to read about art and get inspired and to try out all kind of different styles of all kind of different eras to find his own style. His first real accomplishment was obtained when he won the first prize in Rabat when he was 15 years old. Afterwards he had some national and international expositions. Working two years as an art teacher to spark the same love for art like he felt, didn't give him the satisfaction he was looking for. Now his passion is to find something new, to create something that hasn't been there before.

As a 5 year old he spent a lot of time in the videotheque of his uncle, watching multiple films a day from all around the world. In the following years he started to understand the impact that pictures have to the viewer. He got his first camera with 13 years, fotographing all kind of thing in the nature and taking pictures of people. He started photographing professionally in 2008, when he started travel a lot all around morocco. In 2011 he had his own photostudio where he took photos of other artists. Now he mostly works in the following domains: streetphotography, fine arts, portraits and abstract photography. Whenever he leaves the house he carries a little camera with himself to capture the small daily oddities.

Artist: Simona Zecca Artwork: Audrey

Artist: Simona Zecca Artwork: Tribute to Steve McCurry

Feature:

Simona Zecca is an Italian self-taught artist. She has been working for many years in an office but she wanted to try to make a living of her art. She has always been drawing since she was a child, and this is her real passion.

So, after some health issues, She decided to leave her work and try to live as an artist.

She has been working mainly as an airbrush artist customizing helmets, motorcycles and so on, but She needed to express myself through paintings too.

This year she started exhibiting her paintings as some exhibitions in Italy and they were warmly welcomed by people and critics.

My works were featured at Mantova Art Expo, WomenHouse at OpenArt Gallery in Florence and upcoming Premio S. Crispino in Porto Sant'Elpidio (FM), in Italy.

She is currently working on a series of female portraits focused on eyes, as they are the part of a face which I love paint the most.

Artist: Danielle Dewberry

Artwork: Piracy

Danielle Dewberry is a mixed media artist based in Kennesaw, Georgia who specializes in design. She first became interested in art around the age of 10, taking inspiration from her favorite cartoons, she created her own characters and realized her true passion. Through character design and illustration she explores concepts and emotion in visual form. Her pieces range from digital works, to small scale illustrations and paintings and consist of bright vibrant colors and detailed linework. With a more gritty aesthetic, her characters and designs are rough cut and draw inspiration from alternative culture. In the future, Danielle plans to become a tattoo artist and continue spreading her works for a wide audience to see.

Statement: This piece is a play on color and movement. Using a combination of abstraction and portraiture, I wanted to create something bold and complex. I wanted the design to feel as if it was going to break through the panel of the realm which this captain resides into our own making it sort of interactive with the viewer.
